UNSC

Securing Tomorrow's Peace.

UNITED NATIONS
SECURITY COUNCIL

DPSH MUN 2026

AGENDA:

“Impact of the recent global conflicts upon
International Peace and Security”

Message from the Executive Board (EB)

Greetings Delegates!

Hope you all are doing well.

Firstly, we welcome you to the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) as a Delegate of the country you will be representing throughout the duration of this conference.

Secondly, we encourage you to give your full participation and level best efforts in this conference, again it's not for victory, but for analysing your potential. It doesn't matter whether you are a first timer or an experienced MUN person, your confidence, your way of understanding the committee and the agenda and ultimately the way you present yourself is going to determine your future in the committee. Therefore, as said before, just give your level best efforts and do not hesitate to ask any doubts if you have a case with the Executive Board (EB). As every conference, we analyse that there would be a lot of first timers and therefore we have decided to keep the agenda sweet and simple, as you can refer to the cover page of the Background Guide for the agenda. We request all the Delegates to at least have a glance on the Background Guide to get an idea on what is going to happen in the committee. We have decided to keep the agenda in a general term so that it can accommodate most of the countries to express their stance and voice in a clear and better way.

Ultimately, we request you to keep your preparation at the priority in this duration of the conference so that you all can give you the best possible. The marking would be strictly done by the Executive Board and therefore we request all the delegates to be aware of what they are being marked for, the following are the things that you should be aware of: Speeches (Formal and Informal), Decorum, Documentation, Lobbying, Points, Foreign Policy, and your overall Research and Participation.

We would be guiding you throughout the end of this conference and we promise that this conference would surely give you a memory of yourself that you would always cherish!

Once again, we wish you all the best and sincerely hope that your participation would contribute to the success of this conference. Any doubts or queries, please feel free to contact the Executive Board, we would be replying to you as soon as possible.

President - Aashish Sai Krishna (+91 89777 47900)

Vice President - Swastik Patnaik (+91 72079 37111)

Rules of Procedure (Quick Reference)

1. Roll Call

Taken in alphabetical order at the start of every session. Raise your placard and declare:

- Present retains the right to abstain (votes Yes / No / Abstain on final resolutions).
- Present & Voting forfeits abstention (must vote Yes / No only).

Choice has no bearing on marking. Use Present & Voting if your country's stance on Council reform is clearly for or against; use Present if the real world position is deliberately diplomatic.

Immediately after roll call, a motion to set the agenda is required passed by simple majority (in a 15 member UNSC, that's 8 votes).

2. General Speakers' List (GSL) - Formal Debate

The default, formal state of the committee. Once opened, it stays open for the whole conference. Opened by simple majority. Speaking time is 60 / 90 / 120 seconds (90s is standard unless changed by motion).

Verbatim: "The delegate of [Your Country] moves to open the General Speakers' List with a speaking time of [X] seconds."

Yields, if time remains after your speech:

- 1.To the EB: remaining time is discarded.
- 2.To Points of Information: floor opens for questions; only the questioner's time counts against the clock.
- 3.To another delegate: allocates time for another delegate to speak

3. Informal Debate

Requires a motion to suspend formal debate.

1.Moderated Caucus: Short, focused speeches on one sub-topic. Motion must state the topic, total duration, and individual speaker time.

- Verbatim: "...moves to suspend formal debate and enter a Moderated Caucus for [X] minutes, with a speaker's time of [Y] seconds, to discuss: [Topic]."

2.Unmoderated Caucus: informal, ROP suspended; delegates move freely to build blocs and negotiate.

- Verbatim: "...moves to suspend formal debate and enter an Unmoderated Caucus for [X] minutes."

4. Motions & Precedence

Every motion is voted on by the full committee and needs a majority to pass. When multiple motions are on the floor:

Order of Disruption first, the most time consuming/disruptive motion is voted on first (Unmod > Mod; a longer caucus outranks a shorter one).

Order of Precedence breaks ties, among equally disruptive motions, the one raised first is voted on first.

5. Points

Point of:

1. Personal Privilege - Physical discomfort
2. Inquiry - Question on procedure/proceedings; answered by the dais
3. Order - Flags a procedural error by the dais, or a factual/logical error by a delegate
4. Information - Question for the speaker in formal debate; via chit in informal debate

6. Chits

- Informal chit: sent delegate-to-delegate; note sender and recipient only.
- Formal chit: routed through the Executive Board.
- Physically carried by Organizing Committee members, not delegates.

United Nations Security Council (UNSC)

History:

The United Nations Organization (UNO) was formed on 24th October 1945, after the collapse of the League of Nations as it was unsuccessful to prevent World War II. The United Nations has given birth to the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) that acts as the main authoritative organ that possesses the core powers that include maintaining international peace and security, issuing legally binding resolutions, and authorizing military action.

Permanent Members of the UNSC:

1. United States of America (USA)
2. Russian Federation
3. People's Republic of China
4. French Republic
5. The United Kingdom of Great Britain and the Northern Ireland

Since 1945, the United Nations Security Council has 5 Permanent Members and 10 Non-Permanent Members (which rotates around continents for a fixed tenure).

Non Permanent Members of the UNSC (current):

- | | |
|-------------|---------------------------------|
| 1. Denmark | 6. Bahrain |
| 2. Greece | 7. Colombia |
| 3. Pakistan | 8. Democratic Republic of Congo |
| 4. Panama | 9. Latvia |
| 5. Somalia | 10. Liberia |

Voting Structure:

Veto Power-

In a UNSC, the Permanent Members possess a power called a “Veto” that is simply called as saying a ‘NO’ to a resolution, that would immediately stop the resolution from being passed in the Security Council.

Any Veto from any of the 5 Permanent Members carries the power of stopping the resolutions from being passed even if other permanent and non-permanent members agree to it.

The Non-Permanent Members and Observer Nations do not possess the Veto power.

Voting Process:

In order for any documentations to be passed, there should be no veto from any of the five permanent members along with 2/3rd of the committee agreeing to the resolution that is going to be passed in the committee.

Any veto or failure in achieving the 2/3rd majority will result in the unsuccessful nature of the documentation phase in the committee.

Recent Global Conflicts:

There have been multiple conflicts throughout the world that have been standing as a threat to international peace and security, while some of them which are still on-going have been resulting in various side effects such as Inflation, Disturbance in Supply Chains etc.

The recent global conflicts include:

1. The Russo-Ukrainian War:

Recent Context:

The full-scale Russian invasion of Ukraine (launched in February 2022) remains the largest conventional military conflict in Europe since World War II. The war has evolved into an intense, resource-heavy war of attrition characterized by artillery barrages, trench warfare, drone technology, and systematic strikes on energy infrastructure.

Historical Background:

Soviet Collapse & Guarantees (1991–1994): Following the dissolution of the Soviet Union, Ukraine inherited the world's third-largest nuclear arsenal. Under the 1994 Budapest Memorandum, Ukraine agreed to give up its nuclear weapons in exchange for security assurances respecting its sovereignty and borders from Russia, the US, and the UK.

Protests & Crimean Annexation (2014): In early 2014, the Euromaidan protests led to the removal of pro-Russian Ukrainian President Viktor Yanukovich. In response, Russia illegally annexed Crimea and backed pro-Russian separatists in the eastern Donbas region, initiating a low-intensity armed conflict that persisted until the 2022 full-scale invasion.

Core Drivers: Kremlin security concerns over NATO's eastward expansion, alongside imperialist revisionism seeking to reassert control over former Soviet territories.

2. Israel–Palestine & Regional Middle East Escalation:

Recent Context:

Following the October 7, 2023 attacks by Hamas on southern Israel, Israel launched a major military campaign in the Gaza Strip. The war triggered widespread regional spillover involving non-state actors (e.g., Hezbollah in Lebanon, Houthi forces in Yemen) and direct military exchanges between Israel, Iran, and allied powers.

Historical Background:

Origins (1917–1948): The British Balfour Declaration (1917) supported a Jewish national home in Palestine. The 1947 UN Partition Plan aimed to split mandatory Palestine into Jewish and Arab states, leading to the 1948 Arab-Israeli War (the Nakba), which established Israel and displaced hundreds of thousands of Palestinians.

1967 Six-Day War: Israel occupied the West Bank, East Jerusalem, Gaza, and the Golan Heights. Subsequent peace efforts (such as the 1993 Oslo Accords) aimed for a two-state solution but stalled due to expanding Israeli settlements, security disputes, blockade policies, and internal Palestinian political divisions (e.g., Fatah vs. Hamas).

Core Drivers: Unresolved national sovereignty, territorial disputes, occupation, human rights concerns, and a regional proxy struggle between Israel and Iran.

3. The Sudanese Civil War:

Recent Context:

Fighting broke out in April 2023 between the Sudanese Armed Forces (SAF) led by General Abdel Fattah al-Burhan and the paramilitary Rapid Support Forces (RSF) led by Mohamed Hamdan Dagalo ("Hemedti"). The conflict has caused one of the world's largest humanitarian and displacement crises.

Historical Background:

Rule & Darfur Conflict (1989–2003): Dictator Omar al-Bashir ruled Sudan for three decades. In 2003, non-Arab rebels in Darfur revolted against Marginalization; Bashir armed Arab militias known as the Janjaweed to brutally suppress the uprising—a force that eventually formalized into the RSF.

Revolution & Failed Transition (2019–2021): Popular uprisings ousted Bashir in 2019. The SAF and RSF initially formed a joint military coalition, executing a coup against the civilian transition government in 2021.

Core Drivers: A power struggle between rival generals over integrating the RSF into the regular army and controlling Sudan's gold reserves and economic assets.

4. Myanmar Civil War

Recent Context:

Since the February 2021 military coup, Myanmar has been embroiled in a nationwide civil war. Ethnic Armed Organizations (EAOs) and People's Defense Forces (PDFs) affiliated with the pro-democracy opposition have launched coordinated offensives, significantly weakening the junta's control over peripheral regions.

Historical Background:

Post-Independence Division (1948): Upon gaining independence from Britain, Myanmar struggled to integrate diverse ethnic minorities (e.g., Karen, Kachin, Shan, Rohingya), leading to the world's longest-running continuous civil wars.

Democratic Interlude (2011–2021): A brief decade of democratic reform led by Aung San Suu Kyi was abruptly ended by General Min Aung Hlaing's 2021 coup, driving urban youth to join rural ethnic insurgents.

Core Drivers: Decades of military dominance (Tatmadaw), denial of ethnic self-determination, and widespread resistance to authoritarian rule.

5. Security Crises in the Sahel Region:

Recent Context:

Countries across West Africa's Sahel (Mali, Burkina Faso, Niger) have experienced a series of military coups alongside expanding campaigns by Islamist insurgent groups linked to Al-Qaeda (JNIM) and ISIS. Junta leaders have increasingly severed security ties with Western partners in favor of Russian security contractors.

Historical Background:

Libyan Instability (2011): The fall of Muammar Gaddafi in Libya flooded the region with weapons and heavily armed Tuareg fighters returning to northern Mali.

Mali Revolt (2012): A Tuareg rebellion in northern Mali was quickly hijacked by jihadist militant groups, spreading violence southward into neighboring Burkina Faso and Niger.

Core Drivers: Weak state authority in remote areas, climate change accelerating resource scarcity (farmer-herder clashes), corruption, and foreign intervention dynamics.

6. US–Iran Conflict:

Recent Context:

Tensions between the United States and Iran escalated dramatically into direct military conflict following failed nuclear negotiations and intense regional friction. The conflict has involved joint US-Israeli air campaigns against Iranian military installations, nuclear facilities, and leadership targets, alongside Iranian retaliatory missile and drone strikes against US military bases in the Gulf region and maritime trade in the Strait of Hormuz. Subsequent diplomatic negotiations mediated by regional powers led to temporary ceasefires and fragile diplomatic framework agreements aimed at de-escalation.

Historical Background:

- The 1953 Coup (Operation Ajax): The US CIA and British intelligence orchestrated a coup d'état that ousted Iran's democratically elected Prime Minister, Mohammad Mosaddegh, after he nationalized the country's oil industry. Power was restored to the pro-Western Shah, Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, instilling long-term anti-American resentment among the Iranian public.

The 1979 Islamic Revolution & Hostage Crisis: Popular revolution overthrew the Shah, establishing a theocratic Islamic Republic led by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

- In November 1979, Iranian students seized the US Embassy in Tehran, holding 52 Americans hostage for 444 days, permanently severing bilateral diplomatic relations.

The Iran–Iraq War & Proxy Conflict (1980s): During the eight-year Iran–Iraq War, the US covertly and overtly supported Saddam Hussein's Iraq to contain Iranian influence, while Iran developed a network of regional armed proxies (the "Axis of Resistance," including Hezbollah, Hamas, and Iraqi Shiite militias) to project power across the Middle East.

- The Nuclear Dispute & the JCPOA (2002–2018): Discovery of undeclared Iranian nuclear sites in 2002 led to years of international sanctions. In 2015, Iran signed the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA) with world powers, agreeing to restrict its nuclear program in exchange for sanctions relief. However, the US unilaterally withdrew from the agreement in 2018 under a "maximum pressure" campaign, prompting Iran to gradually resume high-level uranium enrichment.
- The USA-Iran 2026 Strikes: In 2026, there has been a full scale escalation from the United States towards Iran, wherein notably, the Supreme Leader of Iran, Ali Khamenei was killed in it. This resulted in a major on-going crisis throughout the middle east which includes Israel, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Yemen amongst other middle eastern countries.
- Core Drivers: Ideological opposition to US presence in the Middle East, disputed nuclear developments, maritime security in global shipping lanes, and regional proxy warfare.

7. Korean Peninsula Conflict (North Korea vs. South Korea):

Recent Context:

Inter-Korean relations are at their lowest point in decades, marked by a fundamental shift in North Korea's strategic posture. Pyongyang formally abandoned its long-standing goal of peaceful reunification, officially designating South Korea as a "principal enemy" and a hostile foreign state. Formal diplomatic and military communication channels remain frozen. Tensions continue to be driven by North Korea's ongoing missile testing, weapons modernization, and deepening military alliance with Russia, balanced against joint US–South Korea military exercises and alliance deterrence.

Historical Background:

Division & The Korean War (1945–1953): Following WWII and the end of Japanese colonial rule, the Korean Peninsula was partitioned along the 38th parallel into a Soviet-backed communist North and a US-backed South. North Korea's invasion of the South in 1950 initiated the Korean War, drawing in US/UN coalition forces and China.

The Unresolved Armistice (1953): Active fighting ended with the 1953 Korean Armistice Agreement, establishing the 250-kilometer Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). Because a formal peace treaty was never signed, both nations remain technically at war.

Nuclearization & Failed Reconciliation (1990s–2010s): Periodic diplomatic thaws—such as South Korea's "Sunshine Policy"—led to historic summits, but negotiations repeatedly broke down over North Korea's clandestine nuclear program. Pyongyang conducted its first nuclear test in 2006, developing nuclear weapons as an insurance policy for regime survival.

Core Drivers: Deep ideological divide, nuclear deterrence, US military presence in South Korea, and North Korea's structural adoption of a permanent "two hostile states" doctrine.

8. Indo-Pakistani Conflict (India vs. Pakistan):

Recent Context:

Relations between nuclear-armed neighbors India and Pakistan remain severely strained by cross-border insurgency disputes, border skirmishes along the Line of Control (LoC), and diplomatic freezes. Periodic flare-ups sparked by cross-border terrorist attacks in Kashmir have led to military retaliations, missile strikes, and airspace restrictions. Formal bilateral dialogue remains stalled, and foundational confidence-building agreements—such as the Indus Waters Treaty and Simla Agreement—have faced unprecedented strain during crisis events.

Historical Background:

- Partition & The Kashmir Dispute (1947): The 1947 partition of British India created independent India and Pakistan. The princely state of Jammu and Kashmir became the primary flashpoint when its ruler acceded to India following an invasion by Pakistani tribal militias, triggering the First Kashmir War (1947–1948) and establishing the Line of Control (LoC).
- Major Wars (1965, 1971, 1999): The nations fought full-scale wars in 1965 over Kashmir and 1971 (which resulted in the secession of East Pakistan into Bangladesh). In 1999, a localized armed conflict erupted in Kargil after Pakistani military elements infiltrated positions on the Indian side of the LoC.

- Nuclearization & Cross-Border Terrorism: Both nations conducted overt nuclear tests in 1998, establishing mutual nuclear deterrence. India has consistently demanded an end to Pakistan-based cross-border terrorism (e.g., Jaish-e-Mohammed, Lashkar-e-Taiba) as a prerequisite for dialogue, while Pakistan emphasizes self-determination and human rights in Kashmir.
- Revocation of Article 370 (2019): In August 2019, India revoked Article 370 of its constitution, terminating the special autonomous status of Jammu and Kashmir. In response, Pakistan downgraded diplomatic ties and suspended official trade relations.
- Pahelgam Attack: In 2025, an Islamist terrorist attack unfolded in Pahelgam, the Indian administered Kashmir province in which 26 innocent civilians were killed. Later, India launched its 'Operation Sindhoor' against Pakistan attacking all the terror sites inside the country, leading to a global view of another conflict being on the way, as the conflict ultimately came down after retaliation of strikes from the Pakistani government.

Core Drivers: Territorial claims over Jammu and Kashmir, cross-border terrorism concerns, water sharing rights, and nuclear strategic posture.

These are a few major examples of the conflicts, we request you to have proper research over other conflicts that have happened or are still happening around the world.

Documentation:

The documentation is the last stage of the committee proceedings wherein all the Delegates propose solutions and pass a document, which ultimately decides the fate of the conference in total.

The documentation would be explained in detail in the committee itself, so we request all of you to not take much tension or focus majorly on it now itself.

Research:

Your research plays a vital role in the overall duration of the conference and therefore the stronger your preparation, the stronger you, your presentation and the overall committee's chances of success.

For your research, you can refer to the following:

The Charter of the United Nations: Consists the ambitions, rules and regulations by which the UNO works.

Reuters: Any articles or proofs that are shown from Reuters are easily and immediately accepted.

Third Party Sites: 'Wikipedia is not accepted' as a source, as it can be edited by anyone anonymously. Other sources are subject to the context and nature of the argument presented.

State-Operated Agencies: In some contexts, State-Operated Agencies are accepted as proofs or as a tool by which you can justify your arguments.

Such as, BBC of UK, Fox News of USA, KCNA of DPRK.

What your Speeches or Documents must answer?

1. How to stop these conflicts?
2. What steps should countries take to achieve long lasting international peace and security?
3. Is there a threat of World War 3 with these conflicts intensifying in recent times?
4. What proposals can be made which suits the interest of all the countries so that they can agree to a common proposal?
5. Is peace and safety of the citizens more or the conflicts between the countries?

"We wish all the Delegates the Best, and any doubts, feel free to ask us out.

Wishing everyone All the Best."
